It's a "Fur" Cop...

ecent press coverage has drawn attention to the analysis of a woman's skull unearthed in Hoxne. thought to be 1100 years old. All credit to "Steve's mum" for passing on the news, which has determined the cause of death to be Leprosy caught from squirrel fur that was likely traded by Vikings of the time.

The same strain of Leprosy has been found in some existing Red populations and not the more maligned Grey squirrel, as it's a relative new comer to these shores and somewhat blameless in this instance. The back story and the provenance of the skull, is just one aspect that the Hoxne Heritage Group are interested in exploring for a future report and seek any further information, see page 39.

While you may not be wrapping yourself in cosy Red Squirrel fur this Christmas, you could perhaps try a Turkey Wrap from this issue's In the Kitchen on pages 28-29, or indeed any of the festive recipes.

However, if you're looking to eat elsewhere, then the Lunch Bunch may well ...and you thought these were the bad guys?

have the answer in Wingfield, whether you're Good, Bad or Hungry, see page 49 for their review.

In this issue though, there's also some less positive news from Wingfield's St Andrew and from Hoxne, which sadly reflects the recent Police reports. Sgt Brian Calver of the Rural Crime Team said: "Communities can act as our eyes and ears, and by making a note of any suspicious activity of people or vehicles we can deter thieves. Don't ignore anything that you think looks out of place - report anything you think may be suspicious to the police." Call 101 to report suspicious activity. Always call 999 in an emergency, or if you think a crime is in progress. This is sensible advice for all to note, which should ensure your property doesn't become someone else's icing on their cake. Wishing you all a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year!

'Real' trees can be left at this site from 7am on Friday 5th January, until 6.30am on Monday, 15th January.

HAVE YOU SEEN CARI?

n the 2nd of August our light Ginger & White cat bolted from his cat box and made a dash over the fields in the Goldbrook area of Nuttery Vale Hoxne. He's 10 years old, quite small and has dark spots on his ears. His name is Cari (Caramac). Some posters went up when this occurred, but we have heard nothing and it's been a few months now. If a family/household have taken him in, I would be very happy just to know he's ok. Jane Dilieto, 20 Pipers Meadow, ho thought traffic calming on the road east out of Hoxne would be best effected by building a concrete peninsula into the road to prioritize traffic flow close to a blind bend? I have twice found myself on the wrong side of the road negotiating said obstacle as a speedster or juggernaut hurtles round the bend going east out of the village. And people going west into the village have been seen to speed even more than they used to in a bid to get round the obstruction while the road's clear. So let's make the roads even more dangerous by putting concrete things in it in stupid places.

BUILD-OUT BEWILDERMENT

John Whyte-Venables, Syleham

[Since receiving John's letter, road signs are now in place to give some warning of the new layout - Ed]

PROMPT PRAISE

henever I need a job done in my home - decorating, maintenance, repairs, etc. I look first among Village Voice advertisers and have been well served over the years. However, I would like to give special thanks to John Woodard at Hexpek.it - Computer Repair and IT Support. I had occasion to call him recently to help with a computer hardware problem (caused by my own carelessness). He arrived at my home, fixed the problem with no fuss and was gone again within the hour! Thank you John!

Syleham Carol Singing Wednesday 20th December

Would you like to join us carol singing? Or would you like us to sing carols for you? We want to organise village carol singing once again for the children's charity, EACH (East Anglia's Children's Hospices). If you would like to sing, please let us know and come and join us at The White House Farmhouse, Whitehouse Lane, Syleham, between 6.00pm and 6.30pm for a glass of wine and something to eat before we set off. If you would like us to come and sing some carols, please give us a ring on 013379 669320. Last year we had a good evening and raised £550. So why not come and join us or ask us to sing for you? We always like to involve new people, so do get in touch; we're happy to go as far as Wingfield or Wevbread! In the letter of thanks that we received from EACH, they said: "Your support is invaluable as it enables us to continue delivering care to local families."

Hello to all the children of Hoxne

t is very cold here at the North Pole, so I am really excited about coming south in a few weeks time. As you know, I always make a special appearance in Hoxne on Christmas morning to deliver all of your presents. The elves have been extremely busy all year making some wonderful toys, so my sack is getting very full. As always, I have employed some local elves to help me and they tell me they are really looking forward to all those lovely mince pies and refreshments you kindly give us. Just remember, I need you to tell me if you have any visitors staying or I will deliver their presents to the wrong address.

I have filed a fight plan with the Airways Authority and expect Rudolf to land the sleigh in Denham Road about 6.00am. This means we will reach Nuttery Vale about 7.00 and Low Street about 8.00. Just in case we get lost(!), can you make sure all presents are marked with full name, address and telephone number.

Peter, my friend in the village shop, will advise and help you if needed. So please contact him before Monday 18th December. If you need a label please use the one below, Peter will have some spares.

With an increasing number of gigs under their belts - locally and in Cambridgeshire - they decided that this was the year to organise an event, with the help of a few musical friends, to raise some money for Roy's main charity - The East Anglian Air Ambulance. # Worlingworth Local History Group he WLHG is a vibrant group of folk, numbering 70+ members who just enjoy studying the colourful history of the village and the surrounding area. The group meets four times a year, where a speaker covers a particular aspect of local history.

Worlingworth is a parish of some 2,400 acres of strong clay land, located in the agricultural heart of Suffolk in East Anglia. The village straggles along an unclassified road which roughly heads south-east to north-west from the direction of Framlingham to Eye.

The topography is typical of a Suffolk parish, a long

"street" with isolated groups of dwellings and the occasional narrow side road leading off to a neighbouring parish.
The church and the inn form the centres of the two main settlement clusters

and visual evidence of the ancient village green - the former common land - exists today with the preservation of Great Green on Shop Street.

Fressingfield Scout Group Old Boys, and Girls, Network

ressingfield Scouts are trying to contact anyone who was involved with Scouting in Fressingfield in the past. The Old Boys, and Girls, Network is an informal group with the simple aim of meeting up, reviving memories and catching up with old friends and colleagues.

We plan to have two or three get togethers a year as well as supporting Scout Group social activities.

Whether you were involved as a Beaver, Cub, Scout, Venture Scout, Explorer, Leader, Helper or on the Group Executive (Parents) committee in the past, please get in touch to join this informal network.

Here is an archive picture, we think from the early seventies, can you see yourself or can you name some of these young people?

If you were a member of the group, but do not wish to join the network, we would still be very interested in any memorabilia such as badges, uniforms, books, and especially photographs you may have, either as a gift to our archive or to copy. Please contact us if you have anything. Thank you.

Friends of Eye Surgery

Readers may not be aware of this charity that exists to serve patients of the Eye Surgery. Exclusively for patients, a modest fund exists for the purchase of equipment or provision of services that the NHS would not usually provide. As an example, blood pressure machines have been acquired and lent out; also spirometer, defibrillator and machine for cryo therapy have been bought.

The trust is not a fund raising organisation as such, but receives spontaneous donations of cash; these being the sole source of funds. I am Bob Ashworth and I am a trustee representing people covered by the circulation of this magazine. If you would like to contact me on issues rising from this notice please contact me: at bobashworth@echointernet.net or 01379 668021. Please be advised that there is an official notice, that gives further detail, posted on the board adjacent to the reception desk of the Medical Centre.

Halloween, Low Street Green, Appeal for Information

everal people under the guidance of a new couple in Hoxne, spent a lot of time and money making a display of carved pumpkins and dressing the trees with ghosts and witches. It was timed to coincide with a party at the Swan Inn on the Saturday - we intended to leave it for the village until Halloween.

Unfortunately someone had different ideas; on the Sunday morning, no pumpkins or decorations. We eventually found some of the pumpkins albeit damaged, but the rest remained stolen. We think the sheer size and weight of the carvings meant they couldn't carry them.

It was not anyone from the Swan Inn party - all was peaceful and in place at 2am Sunday morning. It is definitely someone in the village.

We eventually managed to put a show on for Halloween, much to the pleasure of the Trick and Treat brigade.

Since then I have been informed of a number of minor thefts and mean damage. The police now have a file. If you have been on the receiving end of this awful person please contact the police - Call 101 and it can be added to the file already set up quote Ref 82 30/10/17.

We need help to stop this. Hoxne is a very special village and this behaviour will not be tolerated. All other village gatherings and displays are potentially under threat. Please help. Thank you.

SHCT sponsored cycle ride -The final count up

The last episode of the cycle ride saga - how much money was raised! Half of the amount below will go to Suffolk Historic Churches Trust and half to the individual churches.

It was very gratifying for me, being able to look through the Denham sponsorship forms, to see that nearly 60% of the village contributed as sponsors. Some of the parishes suffered a bit as they did not have any riders, but you can still sponsor the recorders who are needed if your church is to participate.

So a very big thank you to all of you that supported this fund raising effort as riders, walkers, recorders and sponsors.

Hoxne Charities clay shoot -Summary

he weather again this year stayed sunny with a brisk wind that added more than a little competition to the day. Once again the event was very well attended with 186 rounds sold and from the continued kind comments we hear, the competition is one of the most well received within the local shooting calendar year.

The winning score was 38 by Glen Garnham, three people tied on 37 for joint second, Chloe Pearce, Gary Love & Robert Carlton. Ladies section was won by Chloe Pearce with a score of 37 and the juniors section won by James Reynolds with a score of 26 with Aiden Jolly second on 23.

I am pleased to say that we raised £2170 this year, which is to be split between the Hoxne's Playing Field & Pavilion, together with St Edmund's Primary School.

Each and every year I feel truly humbled at the level of support we receive from our sponsors, competitors and staff who man the traps, not least forgetting Mr P Saunders the landowner! Alan Bryant

he group members have been busy through September and October with outdoor activities such as archery and air rifle shooting. There have been visits to the Norwich Astronomical Society Observatory at Seething to work on Astronomy badges, Bewilderwood for the Beavers, an Activity day at Eaton Vale Activity Centre and to Alpha Gym in Eye for a taste of Martial Arts. The Explorers have had a weekend camp near Wells in North Norfolk.

Over the first weekend of the half-term break the two Scout Troops (ten and a half to fourteen) combined to put on an Expedition Challenge for the over twelve and a halves. Seven Scouts took part, they hiked from Eye to Hoxne via Brome and Oakley on the Saturday afternoon, camped overnight in Hoxne then hiked to Stradbroke via Denham. They used footpaths where possible and navigated with map and compass. On the way they assessed churchyards for wildlife benefit and footpaths for accessibility. During the entire weekend they were accompanied by Storm Brian which made for an interesting overnight camp and some slightly nervous leaders! The group have to produce a report and presentation before they are awarded their badges. Everyone enjoyed the experience and learned a lot. It was especially good to see members of the two troops working together so successfully, the leaders have been asked to set up this Challenge again.

On 7th October we held a Quiz in St Edmund's Hall, Hoxne and raised over £500, thank you to everyone who supported us to achieve this fantastic result.

The focus for the second half of this term will be preparation for the Gang Show on Friday 15th December at Hartismere School, there is also a senior sections bowling trip to look forward to on Friday 1st December.

The New Reeding Woods Group

poster in the newly installed notice board at Pound Lane Wood had advertised our "Putting the wood to bed for the winter" day, and on a bright but cold November morning a small army of volunteers arrived. Armed with shears, secateurs, rakes and hedge cutters they set about clearing the fence and ensuring that the rides remain free of overhanging brambles and branches. A few of the more able replaced the wobbly fence posts and repaired the netting so that this woodland remains secure for children and dogs and mainly free of deer and rabbits.

Encouraging new enthusiasts to get involved in the task of maintaining the woodland has become more pressing as this project will need support for many years. As they worked on this bright, but cold day there, were buzzards soaring overhead, a skylark was singing in the oaks along Pound Lane and a kingfisher was observed on the pond, this area has is now an established wildlife area.

A note book in the notice board encourages visitors to list flora and fauna observed during their visit and so far has mainly been used by children during the half term holiday, but we look forward to the entries of all our visitors.

If you are interested in any aspect of maintaining this woodland please come along to one of our working parties to see how you can help to keep this project going. Watch the noticeboard or call Mike Reeves on 01379 668179 for details.

The Dark Side of Christmas

'Christmas is coming, the doors are being locked'

s you've probably noticed, there are hardly any trains on Christmas Day, and when I worked on them there weren't any at all; but sometimes there would be a big engineering project and signalmen were needed to work. It always struck me as very sad how they would 'phone up and beg to work, yes the overtime rate was monumental, but they were also desperate to get away from families and relatives.

And they were not alone, alas divorce lawyers know that January is a busy month. The ones who make it that far are the lucky ones, as Christmas always sees a peak in suicides and self-harming.

That all comes after we've got through December with a constant demand to go and buy things, and to be made interested in adverts wanting us to buy things (No! I don't want an exclusive preview of your new advert, I'm sure to see it more than enough very soon). These things have to be paid for with the big credit card bills that arrive in January! All of which puts a huge stress and strain on us, so much so that it can be no surprise if many people aren't convinced that Christmas is about the birth of the Prince of Peace.

It makes me wonder, where did it all go wrong? How did the commemoration of a displaced baby born to an unmarried, and very young woman to a carpenter because such a frenzy of expense and extravagance to such a degree that rather than celebrating the coming of new life, so many will experience various forms of despair?

In Christianity, Christmas isn't even the biggest festival - that is Easter, in the Eastern Church, Christmas passes without a murmur as the attention is on Epiphany in early January. Indeed St. Mary's gospel has no Christmas story in it at all and although we always read from St. John's gospel, the passage isn't really about the birth of Jesus!

Please don't get me wrong, I don't mean to sound like Scrooge and dismiss it all with a, 'Bah Humbug!', but this section is Reflections and my Christmas wish is that we'd all think about what really matters? What is important (and to borrow from the Dog's Trust), is 'not just for Christmas, but for life'. Because Christmas is meant to be about the coming of the Lord of Life; Happy Christmas!

St Peter and St Paul, Hoxne

ugust seems a long time ago now, but those who remember the annual Lammas Service at St Peter and St Paul, will recall the unfortunately timed downpour which could have put a damper on the always-enjoyed hog roast

Candles of commemoration at the service of memorial and thanksgiving for those we have loved, who have died, no matter when and where' at St Peter and St Paul on 28th October.

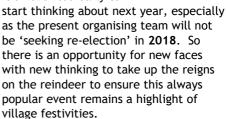

that follows the service. But, after a few whispered permissions from the churchwardens, Peter Havers carried the roast into the church and served the succulent meat from the west end to ensure a successful event. The service raises funds for the farming charity, the Addington Trust, but a thank you letter from the trust went astray and it was only during November that we heard that the excellent total of £2.490 had been achieved - with grateful thanks to all who contributed.

Thanks too, on behalf of the Waveney Food Bank, for the impressive array of food stuffs brought by the pupils of Hoxne Primary School when they came to church for their Harvest Festival Service. Always an enjoyable event, the church was filled with more than 75 children and 80 adults. Please remember that the church is a collecting point for the bank all the year round with a box for tins and packets of food placed by the font.

The annual service to remember 'those we loved, but are no longer with us' was again greatly appreciated with the congregation increasing in number this year to 57. Many thanks to those who organised or contributed to the array of cakes served, with tea and coffee, in the north aisle to allow time for conversation. after the service.

Christmas is just around the corner with the church being very much the centre of attention - beginning on Sunday 17th December with the Christingle Service at 10am (please note the time); followed by the St Edmund's Primary School Carol Service at 2.30pm on Monday 18th December and the Village Service of Carols and Readings at 7.30pm on Tuesday 19th December. We very much look forward to this service especially as the Village Voices Choir will be there to sing two Christmas pieces and help us 'rend the night air' with the carols.

The fun and games of the Hoxne Christmas Fair - held to raise funds for the day-today running costs of the parish church - will be over when Village Voice comes through your letter box. But it's never too early to here will be four services in Denham during December beginning with the monthly Benefice Communion, this will be held at Willow Cottage, Hoxne Road at 7.30pm on Tuesday 12th. The Village Carol Service is at 3pm on Sunday 17th at the Church, and will be followed by refreshments including mulled wine and mince pies.

The Hoxne branch of the Mothers' Union meets on the third Monday of the month at 2.15pm at Time House, Low Street, Hoxne. New members are always welcome.

On Christmas Eve at 11.15am you are invited to a Family Service with Holy Communion, and then on New Year's Eve at 11.15am we will be hosting the Benefice Service, where we invite everyone from all seven parishes to join us.

In January the evening Communion will be on the Tuesday 9th at a venue that will be announced, and our regular Family Service will be on the Sunday 28th at 11:15am with fellowship and refreshments from 10.45. Services at St John's are friendly and welcoming so join us if you can.

St Andrew, Wingfield

e're very much looking forward to the seasons of Advent and Christmas, and details of all the services can be found elsewhere in this copy of Village Voice. We're particularly grateful to Jane and Peter for providing mulled wine and mince pies in the College after Carols by Candlelight on Sunday 17th December - service begins at 4pm.

There's a lot of news about the church building. The work on the wooden frieze at the top of the chancel wall finally took place on 13th October. It took much longer than we had anticipated to find first, a cherry picker which could fit inside Wingfield Church and secondly, a builder who was familiar with operating such machinery inside a church. It is therefore very pleasing to be able to report that the piece which fell has been repaired and placed back, and that it and all the other pieces which didn't fall down have been fixed securely to the base of the roof timbers to prevent a recurrence of the problem.

Harvest Festival at St Margaret on 8th October.

It was a great pleasure to welcome the rest of the benefice to Wingfield on 29th October for our All Saints service. But it took its toll on the building - the floor at the step into the chancel gave way. When the Victorians laid the current floor they bedded the tiles in concrete. In the intervening century and a half, the ground under the concrete has fallen away in places, and where this is the case, the concrete base for the tiles forms little bridges over the shallow void. It is one such bridge that broke on 29th October.

We've made a temporary repair with a piece of hardboard. The bad news is that the temporary repair will be in place for quite some time, and we don't know just how long. This is because we need to find out more about how the problem arose, and what will be the best long-term solution. In addition the Diocesan Advisory Committee which oversees work on churches has asked their archaeology expert to explore whether there are any further issues that need to be taken into account, for example if we should find that there are tombs under the tiled areas that need repair.

The upside to this latest development is that it will make it easier for us to take a joined-up approach to renewing the flooring in the nave, looking both at the tiled areas and the pew platforms.

In a less positive development, someone used a jemmy to force their way into the church on the night of 24th October, damaging both the North and South doors, the locks on both doors and the surrounding masonry. They then used the jemmy to try to open the wallsafes, but were unsuccessful. Taken all together this damage is quite disfiguring, and it will be expensive to put right. This is another issue on which we are seeking advice from the Diocesan Advisory Committee.

We would ask local residents to please keep an eye out for unusual or suspicious activity around the church to help prevent further damage. Secondly, we are all aware that many people are experiencing hardship and finding difficulty in making ends meet. Most people in this position do not turn to crime, but it is possible that some people may be tempted by the small amount of coins that might be found in a church wall-safe.

This is an opportunity to remind readers that there are a number of local charities that can offer help to people in need. Some are so local that they are limited to individual parishes, like the John Trower Trust in Wingfield. If you know of somebody who might benefit from the help that these village-based trusts can offer, please have a word with the Rector who will be pleased to give further advice.

On a brighter note, we continue to make progress with the major project to stabilise the tower buttresses and the South-West corner of the church. We are preparing applications to be submitted to the various bodies which might contribute funding to this work. The more we can demonstrate to these bodies that local fund-raising is helping to finance the work, the more likely they are to give us assistance. We are very grateful for all the fund-raising that has taken place so far, and we hope that readers will be able to be generous when we launch further fund-raising initiatives in 2018.

Tiffin was invented in the early 1900s in Troon, Scotland. McVities Cake Company in conjunction with Master Chocolatier Barry Colenso created something similar for the wedding of William and Kate in 2011. 225g full fat butter

2 Tbls golden syrup

Place the crumbs in a larger bowl, add the melted ingredients and stir thoroughly. Oil a shallow tin approximately 28 cms x 17 cms (11" x 7") and line with cling film overhanging all round. Pile mixture into the tin and smooth level. Refrigerate overnight. Turn out onto a board and cut into 'small' pieces. Best kept in the 'fridge.

Mushroom Wellington

This Wellington is an impressive meat free alternative for Christmas. Do not rush this, if possible prepare the filling the day before and allow to chill in the 'fridge.

Ingredients

320g ready rolled puff pastry

4 Tbls of mild olive oil

1 large red onion, peeled and chopped

2 cloves of garlic, peeled and finely chopped

6 sprigs of fresh thyme, leaves only

4 large field mushrooms whole (remove and chop stalks)

250g chestnut mushrooms, chopped

2 Tbls brandy (optional)

230g prepared baby spinach

225g Stilton or Brie cut into thin slices Salt and pepper to season

1 egg, beaten

Method

In a large frying pan, add 2/3 Tbls of olive oil and, gently fry the onion and garlic for 5 mins, add the chestnut mushrooms, thyme leaves, pinch of salt and pepper to taste, stir and continue to cook until mushrooms are cooked through. Add brandy if required, and continue to cook until no liquid remains. Place mixture in a colander to drain. Add the spinach to the pan, cover with a lid and gently wilt. Place in a colander to drain. Add the remaining olive oil to the pan with the field mushrooms, cover, cook over a gentle heat, turning once, until tender. Transfer to a plate and once cool, cover with cling film. Put the drained mushroom mixture and spinach into bowls and cover with cling film. Place in the 'fridge until chilled. Remove the pastry from the 'fridge and leave 30 minutes. Unroll pastry and lay onto its paper wrapping. (This will make it easier to transfer to the baking tray). Place a sheet of baking parchment, larger than the pastry on a baking tray, leaving a 5 cm (2") border all round. Place the mushroom mix down the middle third of the pastry. Lay half the cheese along the length of the mushroom mix and top with the field mushrooms, overlapping a little if necessary. Lay spinach on top and cover with remaining slices of cheese. Brush the beaten egg along the borders. Fold in ends and sides of pastry to cover the filling. Place on baking tray so the pastry joins are at the bottom. Brush with beaten egg and score the top of the pastry.

Bake in a preheated oven, 220C (200C fan assisted), Aga Roasting oven 3rd shelf, for approximately 45 minutes.

■he pupils of St Edmund's were very pleased to have the company of parents, friends and members of the village for our colourful. joyful harvest festival held at St Peter and St Paul's Church.

At St Edmund's Primary, we are learning Latin in year 6, and understanding more about the Romans and how they lived. Latin is part of the Romance languages, of which English is one. Latin assists in helping us to understand other languages and enables us to understand the meanings of many quite difficult words. It helps with grammar and helps speed up the learning of modern languages such as French, Spanish and Italian. We have also been learning about everyday abbreviations we use, such as PS (post scriptum), RIP (requiescat in pace), e.g.

(exempli gratia) etc. (et cetera). As part of our Latin course. Mrs Gladwin has run a Medusa Head competition. The children have put in a super amount of work to produce some amazing Medusas.

During the lessons, they have made some Roman biscuits, created birthday cards and acted in a play. They are also learning about how the Romans 'borrowed' what they liked best about their conquered countries, such as the Gods and stories from Greece.

As Christmas approaches, we will be rehearsing our KS1 nativity entitled 'A Midwife Crisis'. We look forward to entertaining the residents of St Edmund's House and The Depperhaugh with carols and cheerful Christmas songs. We hope that you will join us for a festive treat as we sing around the village Christmas tree: look out for posters nearer the time.

Wishing everyone peace and joy at Christmas and a happy new year, from all at St Edmund's Primary School.

AFC Hoxne Veterans

o after a few drinks between friends at the Swan in Hoxne an idea came to light to start a veterans football team in Hoxne.

Colin Mayhew, who began his football career for AFC Hoxne back in 1999 when the team was first founded, and who was also the youngest signing of the time at the tender age of 16, decided to become manager for the team.

With the help of Paul Chapman, director of Chapman civil engineering and Charles Doe from John Doe carpets and furnishing, who generously sponsored the idea with the initial set up fees. the idea became a reality in September 2016.

With the use of Facebook and a few messages, past players of a certain age were all up for the challenge. New players then came forward in their dozens.

The veterans had an extremely great season last year, beating established teams of a higher standard and coming second in their league gaining promotion to the Division One (North) league. This showed the strength of the squad already.

This season we started by travelling all the way to Cromer on the North Norfolk coast, and with the passion to win after going a goal down, we came back fighting to a 4-1 victory.

Our football team plays on a Sunday afternoon at Hoxne playing field. This really is an afternoon for all, with both wives, children and grandparents all coming along to support the team.

If you are 35 or over and fancy joining this family friendly team, please get in touch with Colin Mayhew on 07502 303336.

Jonathan "Jobo" Stephen Paul Hulley (Hoxne)

"He left a legacy of love, laughter and kindness" they were the moving words of Paul Hulley summing up the life of his son Jonathan Hulley, who died, age 19, on 1st October as a result of a road traffic accident in Cirencester, Gloucestershire.

St Peter and St Paul's Church Hoxne was packed on 27th October for the funeral service of a muchloved student at the Royal Agricultural University in Cirencester. In an emotional eulogy Mr Hulley said that his son engaged with people brilliantly - he was loyal, courteous, humours and quick witted.

Jonathan had moved with the family at the age of 11 from Olney in Buckinghamshire to the Red House in Wittons Lane, Hoxne. He attended Brandeston Hall school and Framlingham College. An outstanding young cricketer, he had played for Suffolk and was mentioned in "Wisden" (the cricket bible) on three occasions. A true family person, he also enjoyed dogs, rugby union, soccer, holidays and socialising.

The service was conducted by the reverend Brian Bayman, Chaplin of Framlingham College who said Jonathan had lived a "rich rewarding life". Prayers were led by the reverend Michael Womach, the rector of Hoxne. Jim Kirkham was the organist and James Gaisford did a bible reading. Jonathan was buried in Hoxne church yard and a reception was held at Framlingham College. Donations in memory of Jonathan can be made through Susan Whymark Funeral Service Ltd, Chestnut House, 12 Progress Way, Langton Green, EYE

IP23 7HU. This will go towards a lasting memorial to Jonathan and a contribution to the East Anglian Air Ambulance.

In The Garden

ith Christmas and the long dark days of winter just around the corner many gardens get a bit neglected at this time of year. I know it's not nice out there with the rain, sleet and snow often making jobs imposable. But on bright clear days there is still plenty to do.

Do it now?

The first couple of weekends in December are traditionally the times most fresh cut Christmas trees are sold. Remember, cut an inch or two off the bottom and put in a bucket of water as soon as you can. Leave the trees outside in the cool until the very last minute to avoid all the needles ending up the vacuum cleaner before your Christmas dinner is served. After Christmas, don't forget to recycle your tree - see page 3 for details.

It's also nice to include a few plants from your garden in seasonal or winter floral displays. So if you don't have any winter interest plants, pop a few flowering plants like chaenomeles, chimonanthus, forsythia, Lonicera fragrantissima, Viburnum x bodnantense and witch hazel. You can also add a few evergreens like Euonymus 'Emerald Gaiety', Pittosporum tenuifolium, Skimmia japonica 'Rubella' and holly varieties with and without berries, to your Christmas list.

If you need to work off some of the seasonal indulgences, digging over the veg beds or raking up the last few leaves are always worth doing if the ground isn't frozen.

General Maintenance

On frost free days you can still be planting bare root trees and shrubs. Roses are often sold as "root wraps" around now and are much cheaper than container grown ones you can buy in the summer. Wait till the spring to plant evergreen or anything delicate.

If you have apple and pear trees, I like to prune them now through to February. Just make sure that frost isn't forecast, and prune on mild days to avoid any accidents with cold hands and sharp tools!

You can also remove suckers from shrubs and roses, ideally pull them off, below the surface of the soil.

While the trees and shrubs are leafless you can check for canker and signs of coral spot. Cut out and burn any diseased branches. Apple, beech, hornbeam, magnolia, maple and pyracanth are often affected.

5 Minute Jobs

It's always a good idea to give your nest boxes a clear out once a year, and it's also interesting to take a look inside at the nest. Remove the old nesting material and wash out with plain boiling water to kill any remaining parasites. Let the box dry out thoroughly before replacing the lid. Do not us insecticides or flea powders. Any unhatched eggs you find should only be removed between September and January - and legally must be destroyed as your not allow to keep them. Often people only put up boxes in spring and summer, but if you leave then up all year, it can give the birds a safe place to roost over the winter and you also stand a better chance of the box being used in the spring.

Salt paths if inclement weather is forecast, but avoid areas where rain could wash it in to beds and boarders.

If any amount of snow arrives, make sure you brush it off delicate shrubs as the weight can snap branches. Also remove snow coverings from cold frames as it will block precious light at this time of year.

In the veg garden

You should now be harvesting your sprouts, kale, leeks, parsnips and other winter veg.

If you haven't planted garlic yet, pick a sunny spot that doesn't get waterlogged or badly frozen and give it a try.

If you grow runner beans or sweet peas, now is a good time to prepare the ground. Dig a 30cm deep trench and over the next few months, fill it with all the soft garden waste you would normally put on your compost heap. Don't use kitchen scraps as this can encourage unwanted scavengers. The waste will help provide nutrients and retain water in the spring. Before planting cover the trench with soil.

Audience spellbound by Heritage Group's talk on the Witch Trials

n enthralled audience of more than 50 villagers listened to Ivan Bunn's fascinating talk about the 1645-46 Witch trials of Bury St Edmund's. He spoke of Matthew Hopkins, the Witchfinder General, who is the most notorious name in the history of English witchcraft.

In conjunction with his henchman and fellow witch-pricker, John Stearne, Hopkins was responsible for the condemnations and executions of 230 alleged witches in a 14- month period in 1645-6. He was described as a religious zealot, an extreme Puritan and violently anti- catholic. He was the son of James Hopkins, a minister of Wenham, near Maningtree and was finally buried at Mistley, Essex, having died in his late twenties of tuberculosis. There is some evidence that he worked in the legal profession, as evidenced from his performances when giving evidence during the trials, although he was probably not a lawver.

Ivan went on to describe how Hopkins and Stearne did not have to prove the accused had committed malicious acts, but the fact they had made a covenant with the Devil. The greatest sin of all was that they had become heretics to Christianity and, as such, it was necessary to gain a confession, frequently by torture. Methods such as sleep deprivation, being tied to a chair and submerged in water to see if they floated (those that floated were deemed to be witches) or cut with a blunt knife.

Female assistants were hired to watch suspects and to examine the accused for the Devil's mark which would not bleed (probably a mole or birthmark). It was believed that the witch's familiar, usually a cat or dog, would suckle from this mark.

The accused were sentenced by justices of the peace at the assizes and usually hanged if found guilty.

Hopkins and Stearne, accompanied by their 'pricking assistants' became famous and their services were requested all over East Anglia. They claimed to be officially commissioned by Parliament, although there is no record of this. They were very well-paid for their services, which appeared to be the main motivation. The expense to the local community was such that a special tax had to be levied in Ipswich in 1645.

The witchfinders ran into opposition very soon after their work began and John Gaule, vicar of Great Staughton, began a programme of sermons to suppress witch-hunting. The justices of the assizes in Norfolk questioned Hopkins and Stearne about their torturing and fees and suggested that their methods could possibly be construed as witchcraft as well. By the time the court resumed in 1647 both witchfinders had retired.

Ivan finished his talk by showing interesting archived records relating to some locally convicted witches. A gruesome, but fascinating tale and Matthew Hopkins lives on as 'an anti-hero and bogeyman'!

Plea for information - Hoxne Heritage Group are seeking any information on:

Any information on either would be very welcome. Please contact me on 01379 668395 or via the contact page on the website.

As part of the Council's pledge to use various locations in the parish for meetings, we held a productive meeting at St John's Church at the end of October. The County Councillor, District Councillor, three members of the public and the full Council were in attendance. The Council made comments on the Mid Suffolk Draft Joint Local Plan affecting development in Denham and Mid Suffolk as a whole. The Council also discussed supporting the Village Hall with its renovation plans and how to progress this to ensure the Hall accesses public funding available. COUNCILLOR VACANCY - We currently have a vacancy for a Parish Councillor. GREEN STREET TRAFFIC CALMING - The Suffolk County Council scheme to calm traffic entering Hoxne from the east has finally been completed. The Parish Council's Vehicle Activated Speed Sign will record the data post installation of the scheme and comparison figures will be analysed in due course.

VILLAGE VOICE MAGAZINE - Prompted by our Parish Clerk, the Village Voice magazine was entered into the Suffolk Association of Local Councils Newsletter of the Year competition and was awarded joint runner up in the larger village category at the recent SALC AGM. Well done to Richard and all the team who produce such a brilliant magazine for the four villages. VILLAGE DEFIBRILLATOR - A new display cabinet for the village defibrillator has been mounted on the front wall of The Village Hall to the left of the main door. The defibrillator will soon be moved to this location where it will be more accessible to the whole village. Thanks are due to The Village Hall Management Committee for allowing the use of this site and to Mick Procner and Mike Dudley for their hard work in assembling the cabinet and electrical installation. It is hoped to arrange instructions in the use of this important piece of equipment in the near future.

COUNCILLOR VACANCIES - We are still looking for two new Parish Councillors. Please come forward and ask the Clerk for further details.

MEETING DATES - The Parish Council meets on the first Thursday of the month. The next meetings will be held on Thursday 7th December, Thursday 4th January and Thursday 1st February at St Edmund's Hall and commence at 7.30 pm.

MSDC Locality Awards: Syleham Parish Council has been awarded a grant to renovate both notice boards at the Village Hall and Syleham Bridge. This work will take place as soon as possible. The Council has also been offered monies to buy its own VAS (Vehicle Activated Speed Sign) which has been accepted. Roads: The temporary (red) fencing on Syleham Bridge has been an eyesore for too long. The Council has agreed to contact the authorities to have it replaced with a replacement more in keeping with the architecture of the bridge.

Syleham

Our last meeting took place on 8th November at the village hall. District Councillor Elizabeth Gibson- Harries was in attendance and outlined the background behind the Joint Local Plan being prepared by Babergh/MSDC district councils.

Joint Local Plan: The merged councils have a desperate need for building land to meet local and national government targets for new homes. As a result, the long-established restrictions on development in the village could be lifted. In response, your parish council is

Wingfield

The Parish Council has met twice since our last report. On the 29th September we had a scheduled meeting and on the 25th October, an extraordinary meeting to discuss planning applications. The outcome of both was as follows.

Joint Local Plan: It had been identified in the documentation that Wingfield had been incorrectly classified as an hinterland village and thus vulnerable to reduced development protection. The authorities have subsequently been notified and the village reclassified as hamlet/countryside.

Wingfield Green: Improvements to the western side of the Green have continued and the Council appreciates the positive comments from residents. The work will continue with a programme of tree planting that we hope provides the evidence supporting grant applications necessary to fund renovation of the eastern side.

Flower Planters: The Council would like to thank Trish Peruzzi for her kind donation of topsoil that now fills the planters.

MSDC Locality Awards: This year MSDC has been very generous to the village, funding renovation of the phone box, new benches for the church graveyard and a substantial donation to the acquisition of a defibrillator. We now have been given the opportunity of buying our own VAS ince the last issue we have had a very informative illustrated talk by lan Limmer from Peter Beales Nursery. Ian has been at Beales for the last 42 years of the 50 years since it was started by the late Peter Beales. With the help of slides, he went through a year in the nursery from growing and cultivating through to the finished products which are shown at Chelsea and other shows throughout the U.K and abroad (including Japan). We are hoping to organise a trip to the Nursery at Attleborough next year - so keep your eyes open in future Village Voice editions if you are interested in joining us.

We have also had an enjoyable (but extremely wet) trip to Holt. Having had a dry run up to Sheringham (where most of us had a quick cup of coffee, but some energetic people did a quick burst down to the beach!), as we got on our reserved coach on the steam train to Holt, the heavens opened. "A scenic view" they advertised as we went along the North Norfolk Coast - that would be alright if the windows weren't steamed up and pouring rain outside!

The coach met us at Holt, but by then it was torrential rain for the relatively short walk (or paddle) to where the coach could park. One member even had to resort to buying some new dry clothes at a charity shop as she was so wet! Holt came up to its usual standard and most people seemed to enjoy the couple of hours we had there.

Our Christmas social meeting takes place on Tuesday 12th December. If you fancy listening and watching, (and taking part) in handbell ringing we are being entertained by the Harleston handbell ringers. Seasonal food and drink will be on offer after. So if you would like to come along for the evening we just ask for a visitors fee of £2 - if you are bringing a party it would be useful if we had advance notice!

Regular meetings are on the second Tuesday of the month at 7.30 pm in the Village Hall.

am pleased to say that we are holding our own in the top flight. After a disappointing 3-1 defeat away to Capel Plough, we thrashed bottom team Ransomes Sports 9-1 at Ipswich. The visit of current League leader Achilles (Ipswich) on 30th September attracted a large crowd. The team rose to the occasion and we deservedly drew 3-3 and the only point Achilles have dropped so far.

An uneventfully 0-0 draw at East Bergholt United was followed by another cracking home match against Cornard United in the Suffolk Senior Cup. We triumphed 4-1 on penalties after a 4-4 draw. I had the pleasure on that occasion of doing a commentary on the game for visually impaired John Slocombe of Lowestoft. He told me that Hoxne was the 1,651st non-league game he had been to in 30 years.

We comfortably beat Leiston St Margarets 3-0 at home and then lost by a similar score line at Crane Sports (Ipswich). On 4th November we drew the high-flying Wenhaston United 1-1 at home. The second XI (top of their league) and the veterans (unbeaten) are both doing well, so it's really a very exciting time to be involved with AFC Hoxne.

The Workhouse at Hoxne

n 1601, an Act of Parliament laid down that each parish in the realm was to be responsible for the maintenance of its own paupers. The burden was to fall on annually appointed overseers of the poor, who would have the power to levy a rate, and those poor folk that were deemed to be able bodied were to be accommodated in workhouses. In Hoxne, an ancient Guildhall, built in about 1525 with monies left by Peter Gower in his will, stood in front of the parish church on what is now Green Street

On a plan of "Hoxne Newe Parke", made for Sir Robert Southwell in 1619, the Guildhall is shown as a substantial two storied building with single storied extensions, and an arch for carriages and carts.

The parish overseers acquired the building towards the end of the 17th century, by which time it seems to have fallen into disrepair, and over three or four years, spent various sums in renovations to equip the place for the use of the poor.

One of the first inmates was Thomas Riches for whom the churchwardens paid 2/- in 1712 for carting him. Their accounts of this time also record payments of 3 shillings and two pence halfpenny to four men for removing William Mayston from the workhouse, most of which money went in food and drink and in 1747 the large sum of £1/17 for moving Daniel Lawes' worldly possessions into the building. At this time, though, the facility was still referred to as the Guildhall - It was not until 1755 that the churchwardens called it the 'workhouse'.

In that year, they decided to entirely revamp the old building and John Press, the overseer, with a small delegation, was sent during April to view the workhouses at Eye, Harleston and Stradbrook (sic) to see what arrangements those towns had in hand. A further meeting at the Swan in Hoxne in the May resulted in a plan for the alterations. Rules were drawn up, a few pounds spent on sundry work and a Mr Girling paid 3 guineas for manning the house up until Easter.

Early in 1758, the Hoxne parish officers entered into a new written agreement with William Page, "upon taking the workhouse", and agreeing to allow him 1/6d a head for every person coming under his care for working. Mr Page promised to "keep the said persons with proper food and maintenance & likewise to keep them as clean and neat as the place will afford." The officers agreed to take him on from Monday 3rd April, and promised to keep the workhouse with proper "linning and clothes." The church terrier of 1777 proudly referred to "one large house situate near the church now used as a common workhouse for our aged poor families."

After many years of relative obscurity, when references to the workhouse are very scant, the infamous Poor Law Amendment Act was passed in August 1834, which sought to set up Poor Law Unions, requiring smaller parish workhouses such as those at Hoxne, to be amalgamated into larger purpose built institutions, catering for a much bigger catchment area. The Hoxne Poor Law Union came into being in June of the following year, and a large edifice was erected at Barley Green near Stradbroke which could accommodate 300 inmates, and cost £8,274.

The furniture and effects of the Hoxne house were put up for auction at the Swan in May 1836 and appeared in the Suffolk Chronicle thus, "12 good featherbeds, 4 straw beds, 23 pair strong hemp sheets, almost new, 12 pairs blankets, 12 coloured cotton counterpanes, 14 stump bedsteads, 70 & 46 gallon coppers, large and small beams and scales, 4 bushel mash tub, 3 water tubs, 3 deal wash keelers, 2 large meat tubs, 6 beer casks, 5 porter barrels, strong kitchen range, 10 water pails, 4 oak linen chests, 3 excellent meal hutches, large 'beaufet', 2 long oak tables, 3 deal tables, 6 long and short forms, 2 chests of drawers, stout tin bath, quantity of deal shelving and a general assemblage of household requisites." Mr Moore, the auctioneer received £44/17/10 for his services in selling the lot.

A further sale of the old building followed in October 1837 and appeared in the newspaper as "Comprising a large and substantial Freehold Tiled Messuage or Dwelling-House, for many years used as a Parish House or Workhouse." A brief description gives us some idea of the size and layout of the building. It contained 12 sleeping rooms, and a frontage of 70 ft, with 10 rods of garden ground, secured by a brick wall of 150 feet and 7 to 9 feet in height, abutting on the churchyard of Hoxne, and fronting the road at the top of the street. It was sold with an adjoining plot of land, to Sir Edward Kerrison, the Lord of the Manor, for £245, some of the monies being used to pay off a loan borrowed by the parish for their share of the building of the Union House at Stradbroke.

The Hoxne overseers' accounts for 1837 record the transport of the first eight paupers to the new Union House with a horse and van for which they spent 7/-. Kerrison subsequently erected six almshouses on the site of the old guildhall, for the poor and aged persons of the village, which in 1923, came into private ownership. They still stand adjacent to the entrance to the churchyard.

The Lunch Bunch Visits...

n a beautiful warm and sunny autumnal day, the "Lunch Bunch" ventured out to a café, not a pub for our lunch. The Good, The Bad and The Hungry Café has recently gone from just opening at the weekends to 7 days a week. Situated within the GWC equestrian centre, clearly signposted from the B1118 Stradbroke road, the café has lots of parking and beautiful views of the fields and countryside.

The café building itself is near, but very separate from, the stable yard. We were warmly welcomed and told we could pick our table. The room itself is decorated with interesting "western" and horse related knick-knacks and in our case as Halloween was just around the corner, a few "scary" cobwebs, spiders and skeletons too!

Our waitress quickly brought over the menu and asked if we had been here before and as our reply was no, she went on to explain how everything was cooked to order and that there was a few specials, soup and pie etc. on the specials board. We ordered some soft drinks (remember this is not a pub) and then looked with interest at the menu.

Breakfasts, pancakes, omelettes, burgers, chilli, crostini sandwiches even a good old Ploughman's. We were all quite taken by the variety. Our drinks brought and our lunch order taken all very efficiently. Two cyclists we had seen on the road in, pulled in for a cuppa.

There is a covered veranda where you can have a table as well as some picnic benches in the garden area. On a summers day I can easily imagine the place filled with , dog walkers, families and car drivers alike, stopping in for a lunch time fix. They also offer a take away service, so don't be put off if you can't stop, or are enroute to somewhere else.

Lunch arrived, the sweet potato chips with the Halloumi Burger were delicious, the double fried hand cut fries with the Ham, Eggs and Chips, hot and crunchy and the Ploughman's was a work of art. The room was filling up by this time, so we got to see lots of the other delicious items on offer. The American Pancake Stack looked just like those on the telly and the rarebit made me want to order again! All the meals were beautifully presented and everyone was making all the "right" noises to show they agreed.

After a short wait for our table to be cleared, we ordered tea and coffees from their new "on demand" coffee grinder and gave the home-made cakes and deserts a look. Backwell tart, chocolate cake and lots of other fabulous looking offerings.

We all enjoyed the warm and friendly atmosphere and one in our party was already making plans to return visit. A great 'café' and well worth a walk, cycle or even a drive to visit.

Our Mains £7.00 / £8.50, Deserts £2.00 / £2.50, Drinks £2.00

Can you help Healthwatch Suffolk to shape and improve home care services?

Healthwatch Suffolk is exploring people's experiences of accessing home care services (domiciliary care). It is an opportunity for you, your friends or family members to influence and improve these services now and for the future.

The watchdog wants to hear from people that are currently using home care services, have used them in the past or those who may need help at home but have been unable to obtain support in the county.

Domiciliary care is care provided in a person's home. Sometimes it is called home care or 'Support to Live at Home'. Home care can include support with things like helping people to get out of bed, washing, dressing, getting to work, cooking meals, eating, seeing friends, caring for families and being part of the community.

Healthwatch Suffolk will use your feedback to help it understand the issues that people face when accessing care at home and what needs to be explored in detail as part of its developing project. As the health and care watchdog for Suffolk, it can use the things that people share to shape, influence and improve care to our county's most vulnerable residents.

Sharing your experiences couldn't be easier

If you are currently using a service, Healthwatch Suffolk is asking people to take part in a short survey. You can access it using the following link: https://www.surveymonkey.co.uk/r/homecareinsuffolk

If you are not currently accessing support or would prefer not to feedback online, please contact the Healthwatch Suffolk team on 08004 488234 (Freephone) or by email to info@healthwatchsuffolk.co.uk. # A Word from Wingfield

Maps, not forgetting atlases, charts and cartographers

aps seem to be going out of fashion which is rather a pity. The origin of the term Atlas, which refers to a collection of maps, is said to derive from that of Gerard Mercator, which carried a representation of Atlas supporting the heavens as a frontispiece.

I first learned about maps from the one inch Ordinance Survey variety. The next encounter with them was during my service with the navy where one of my duties was to draw weather maps of the Indian Ocean. I recall on my 21st birthday feeling somewhat queasy in a very stormy sea off Mauritius on the bridge with the captain pouring over the latest map based on barometric pressure and wind direction and speed reports from ships and weather stations from Africa across to the Far East.

My specific task was to predict the path of the hurricane which was causing such high seas as the Captain wished to sail away from the eye of the storm. We had battened down all hatches and in the ward room took precautions to protect china, glass and bottles of gin. The hinged edges of mess tables were turned upwards to keep plates from sliding on the floor.

I was on the bridge showing the Captain the weather map when he said to me "if we lose the ship, I shall hold you, Gee, responsible". This puzzled me, as I thought he would have gone down with the ship, and possibly me too. She was an 11,000 ton cruiser which must have been worth several million pounds with a crew of 700 men. But we arrived safely at Mauritius continuing on the same course from Trincomalee. To find our way across seas and oceans from port to port we used the ubiquitous Admiralty charts. These differ from maps as they reveal the depths of water rather the height of the land, but both have common boundaries, and show many items in common such as harbours and lighthouses. In our map chests, we carried the large scale Mercator charts of the waters to which we were posted, and small scale for the rest of the world. They all used the cylindrical Mercator projection which enabled us to navigate using straight lines on charts to set and follow our course at sea. After two years at sea, my next encounter was with maps, not charts, on safari in Uganda. Exploration on land led to the definition of roads, ferries, bridges, forests, rivers and swamps and then of administrative centres, townships, settlements, and crucially of boundaries and land ownership. Survey, then maps, preceded the building of roads and railway. Detailed survey of the height of land and river preceded the building of the Owen Falls dam.

Some 25 years ago I came across a Historical Atlas of Suffolk. It has some seven dozen small outline maps of the county on the right-hand pages, and opposite each map an excellent explanation of each map covering different topics such as the physical setting, administrative units, early settlement, medieval and Suffolk since 1500, communications, industries, leisure, urban growth, architecture, and finally post medieval fortifications (the first edition precedes the discovery of the Hoxne hoard). The atlas is a cornucopia of information.

About this time West Sussex Council had invited ideas on how the county might best commemorate the Millennium. The only idea floated was a rather expensive concert hall which generated controversy about the location. I suggested that we should follow the Suffolk example and to my surprise the idea was taken up by the two counties of East and West Sussex, and with the help of Sussex University, especially their cartographer, and the archaeological society, the atlas was published in 1999, just in time for the millennium.

Subsequently many other English counties have produced similar publications, an idea which originated with the Suffolk Institute of History and Archaeology and the Suffolk County Planning Department. I don't know how much it has been studied in the Sussex school libraries which received a copy.

Today, if you want to find your way, unless you are a hiker or rambler, you don't use an Ordinance Survey map. Instead, you get out your GPS enabled 'phone or put a Tom-Tom on the car windscreen and enter your destination. Rural finger posts on narrow country lanes designed for travellers on horseback rather than motorists, get damaged by wide vehicles or they may be covered with grime or foliage, joints rusted and fallen on the ground. Financial stringency and the emergence of GPS are probably responsible for the decay that seems to have set in. National road signs remain ok.

Some years ago, Wingfield produced a parish footpath map with copies on sale in the back of the church for £1 to promote tourism and guide keep-fit walkers. Perhaps one of our worlds most famous maps is the medieval Mappa Mundi in Hereford Cathedral, drawn on vellum circa 1300. It has been restored and hung in the new cathedral library. I found its location too high and ill lit for serious perusal and the tourist replicas on sale were not easy to follow. Mappa Mundi does reveal how little we knew about our world 700 years ago.

Today we are trying to map not only our solar system, but the entire universe, which is a fantastic task. We now know not only the direction of trillions of stars, but also their size, composition and distance. In my youth I learned how to navigate using the stars and nautical tables, a theodolite and a chronometer. Now that we have satellites circling the globe, we can find out exactly where we are using our mobile.

In the 50s, I was curious to learn about the systems used by traditional Arabs sailing Dhows, which for centuries had plied the trade routes between Africa and the East, and was taken aback to find that their crew not only had the same Admiralty charts that I was using, but similar instruments and tables. Polynesian Pacific navigation is another interesting story. Air navigation was similar, but with greater reliance on airport radio beacons and topography. When we switched from sea to air travel to save time and money, the pilot would circulate a regular hand written progress report to his passengers saying where we were and what to look out for on the ground. Flying down the Nile helped find the way.

Geography was once dominated by maps. A good example on display in the Dutch House at Kew Gardens, the nursery of George III's children, is a map copied by one of the royal infants from the jig-saws used by their governess to teach them geography. Us oldies still recall our classroom maps or a globe with half the world proudly coloured in red depicting the British Empire. And even today, if you turn to the back of your bible, you will find maps to illustrate and explain what you learned in Sunday school about the holy land.

Churchill's six volume history of WW2 which I bought as they were published year by year from 1948 to 1954, have essential explanatory maps beautifully drawn by one Richard Cribb, no doubt a derivative of Captain Pim's famous Churchill map room.

Much of the success of Churchill's strategic war planning was dependent on maps as was Britain's exploration of the world by sea and land. Can it be a coincidence that he lived at Chartwell?

We have travelled a long way following maps from those of Ptolemy and now Google. They have played an important part throughout the world. Is their end now in sight, or have they simply, like us, succumbed to the electronic age?

Tommy Gee
